

ELITE JUNIOR SUMMER CAMPS FOR COLLEGE-BOUND JUNIORS

Junior golf is more competitive than ever and the battle for the limited number of spots on college teams is fierce. Coaches now expect freshmen to arrive already capable of playing at the collegiate level.

Tournament play and college golf is all about competition and learning how to score under pressure. It is critical that juniors gain an understanding of not just their swing but also fundamental scoring principles including strategy, course management, shot-making, and mental skills. Just as importantly coaches are looking for kids who can practice and train independently: juniors who know how to set appropriate performance goals and then manage their time between making swing changes, developing new skills, and training for scoring.

Our 2-day intensive camps are pre-college prep, designed for experienced juniors who want to compete at the highest levels. They are modeled after the practice sessions of the best college programs in the country and will introduce juniors to the skills and tools they need to be successful. Camps feature:

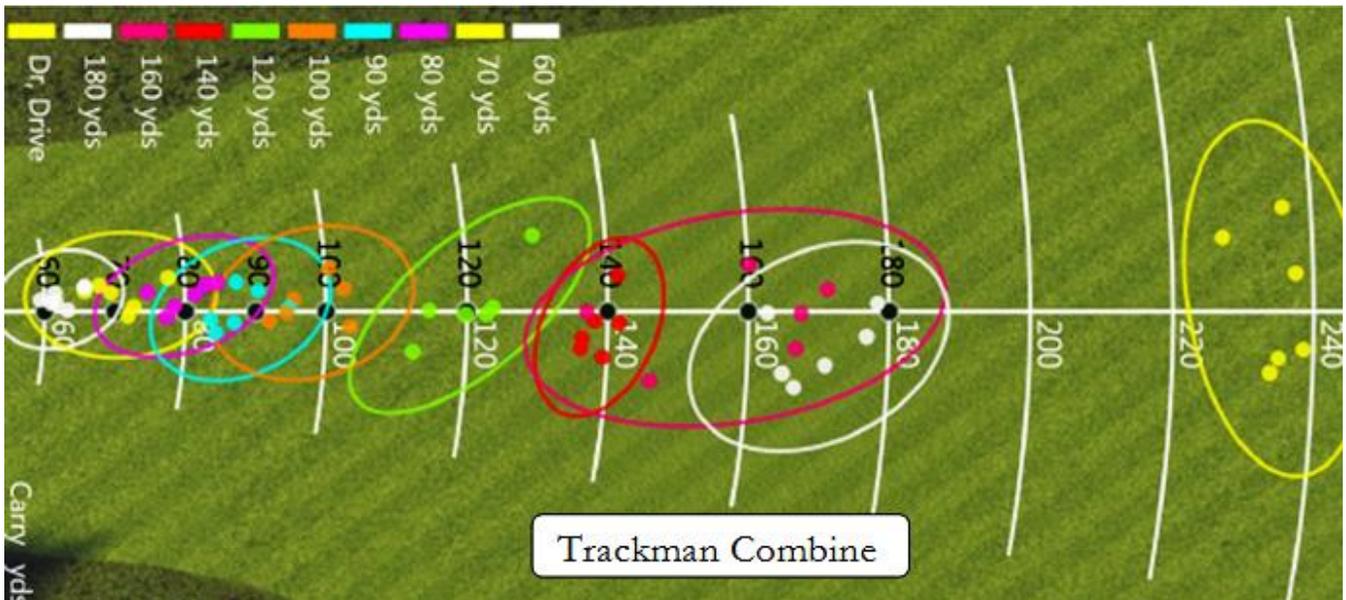

- * High-end electronics like Trackman to benchmark swing skills, determine impact dynamics and chart club distances;
- * Short Game Combine to evaluate putting and greenside scoring skills;
- * Competition-based practice drills - the dominant paradigm in college golf;
- * Mental toughness training, resilience and focusing skills;
- * Pre-Shot Routine and practice organization templates;
- * Daily on-course playing lessons with strategy discussions, situational shot-making and trouble shots.

The camps immerse juniors in the world of college-style golf to give them an idea of what it's like to be a college golfer. These are a fun but very busy two days. Juniors will emerge with a better understanding of how to play smarter, practice smarter, and lower their scores. The detailed daily curriculum is below. The camps have a limit of just 12 juniors per week and we know many juniors will be attending multiple sessions, so please register right away to make sure your spot is reserved.
